Resources

Texts
There is an optional reference for this course:
The book will be utilized heavily and is available online.

Course Web Site

This course has an accompanying website. You are responsible for announcements, the schedule, and other resources posted on the website. Assignments and grades will be managed using Canvas, which requires a valid utahtech username and password. The course website is accessible at http://computing.utahtech.edu/courses/.

Assignments and Exams

Reading

Assignments

There will be several projects, with multiple projects due some weeks. The assignments are designed to promote the course objectives listed above.

Assignments are due before 11:55 pm on the due date.

Most assignment submissions will be weighted equally.

Exams

There will be approximately 4 exams scheduled throughout the semester. Exams will at least consist of a practical portion, there may also be a Canvas portion for each exam. The practical exams will require students to complete hands-on work on computer systems, relating to homework assignments. The students will be expected to demonstrate the practical skills listed in the course objectives. The practical exams will be conducted in a time limited setting, during class time.

There will be a final exam as scheduled during finals week. The final will be a comprehensive exam. The students will be expected to demonstrate understanding of the principles listed in the course objectives.

Grading

Assignments will count for 50% of your point total. Exams will count for 50% of your point total.

Letter grades are assigned based on the percentage of possible points attained, according to the following chart:

Here is the grading scale:

Course Policies

Absences

Students are responsible for material covered and announcements made in class. School-related absences may be made up only if prior arrangements are made. The class schedule presented is approximate. The instructor reserves the right to modify the schedule according to class needs. Changes will be announced in class and posted to the website. Exams and quizzes cannot be made up unless arrangements are made prior to the scheduled time.
Time

Courses should require about 45 hours of work per credit hour of class. This class will require about 135 hours of work on the part of the student to achieve a passing grade, which is approximately 9 hours per week. If you do not have the time to spend on this course, you should probably rethink your schedule.

Late work

Assignments that are turned in by the due date and that are done correctly will receive full points.

Late assignments can be turned in until the exam is given which covers the assignment. You may receive a reduced score on the late assignment.

Assignments will not be accepted after an exam has been given that relates to those earlier assignments.

Any exceptions must be discussed with the instructor. Computer failure does not qualify as an excuse for late work.

It is your responsibility to see that assignments/projects are turned in and on time. If you come to me and say, “I turned in that assignment”, yet I have no record of it, you will receive a 0. The burden of proof is on you to prove that you turned in something at a given time.

Cheating and Collaboration

It is ok to talk to each other and to get help from each other, but in the end, everything should be your own. You should NOT copy/paste. You should know what cheating is. Cheating can be penalized with an ‘F’ on the assignment, and ‘F’ in the course, and/or appropriate annotation on campus-wide student records.

Important Dates

I’m not going to list them all here but you should be familiar with calendar for the drop dates, and fee dates and stuff.
